Dear Ringgold Parents and Guardians,

I am thrilled to announce the start of our 2020-2021 school year on Tuesday, September 1st. I cannot begin to tell you how excited we are to welcome our students back, whether it be as part of our face to face or online learning community. We have spent the summer working tirelessly to ensure a safe, positive transition for our students. Our staff is excited to embark on this new adventure with your children. We know that new learning platforms and new building procedures have the potential to create anxiety and uncertainty for everyone involved. Moving forward, now more than ever, we are grateful for your patience, flexibility, and understanding. Know that we will move forward together, will face new challenges together, and will likely need to make adjustments together. While that is certain to be true, also know that the physical, emotional, and educational well-being of your child is at the forefront of every decision we make.

Below, please find a link to a series of helpful resources that we hope will answer your most pressing questions and alleviate any concerns you might have about what the fall semester will bring, whether it be online or face to face. We know that we cannot plan for every contingency or answer every question you might have. If these documents do not provide the information you need to approach the first week of school, please reach out to your child's principal or guidance counselor.

Again, thank you for your continued patience and support. As an educational community, we rely heavily on you to ensure the success of every learner.

Sincerely,

Randall Skrinjorich
